NEW MEMBER RELATIONS MANAGER FOR INSTITUTE

The Western Australia Institute of Public Administration is delighted to welcome Mrs Audra Young as its inaugural Member Relations Manager.

With a career spanning over 20 years encompassing hotels, catering, retail and venue management, Audra has a wealth of experience and a proven commitment to developing relationships and understanding client needs. She has a strong focus on customer service and a passion for people and is very excited to be taking on this new role and challenge.

Audra's vision for the new role is to strengthen the relationship that the Institute has with its current members across all categories including Personal, Life and Corporate.

"I hope to maximize the benefits offered and develop new and innovative ways to ensure that the Institute continues on its mandate Advancing Excellence in the Public Sector and exceeding the expectations of the members with regards to what they hope to achieve through their professional association," Mrs Young said.

"I look forward to meeting with all our members in the near future and working with them to ensure that they receive the full benefit of their membership for 2011/12."

Institute CEO Alison Petrie added "the creation of this role clearly demonstrates the importance we place on our constituents and our focus on making sure that we assist them in their career development no matter what area of public service they represent."
